CORSET CAVALCADE WOULD BE MODELS

All Sorts of Women See Miss White.

SELECTIONS

Three Days' Session of Dressmakers' Association Is Now Ready to Begin.

Tall women, short women, fat women omen, bombarded the ante-room If the Masonic Temple, at 9 o'clock this morning. It might have been a comic opera rehearsal or a bargain sale to the unitiated, but to the wise ones it meant the return to Washington of that indelatigable worker and wizard of the cor-set 'lace-Miss Elizabeth A. C. White, president of the Dressmakers' Protective Association of America.

A three days' session of the association opened at 11 o'clock this morning with a lecture by Miss White on dress choice assortment of models at 9 o'clock this morning, every woman in the crowd looked at another as if to say "You might as well go home. I'm IT.'

The lady examiner went to two wo-men sitting near the door and said to

"Will you please take off your coat? The woman removed her coat, but almost before she had drawn it off the lady examiner said:

"Yes, you'll do," and turned to another who looked as if she had been lassoed and dragged in by the waist. She was a bulgy specimen, and the lady examiner said, "No, I'm afraid we can't use you." and to the reporter she con-use you." and to the reporter she confided that "We have to have unusually bad figures, you know," and the reporter wondered how the lady examiner had made the mistake.

Just as she was turning away a large, nortly form rose from the far corner of the room. Somebody was heard to gasp. Somebody did gasp. Three hundred if an ounce. For a time it was hard to tell whether the form was going out or coming in, but soon it became evident it was just standing still.

When the prospective model moved, it looked very much as if she had gotten behind and was pushing herself alor. There was much of her in front and considerably more from a rear view. The attractive little girl in charge of the corrects looked ruefully at her stock as if it were all over.

Now if there is one thing Miss White likes more than another it is a big ilsureless figure that she can strap into a corset and make look like a fashion plate.

"Oh! Just the Thing."

"Oh! Just the Thing." The assistants crowded around the HUNDRED AND large party and declared, "Miss White will have a fit when she sees you. But I didn't really come to be a model," said the visitor shyly.

NEW PARLIAMENT SITS TO ELECT TOMORROW

Commons of Largest Number of Fresh Faces Ever Known Will Chose Speaker.

LONDON, Feb. 12.-The house of com mons will meet tomorrow for the elec-tion of the speaker, and the remainder of the week will be devoted to swearing in the members and other necessary preliminaries.

The speaker will miss many old faces as he greets the house this time, and it will be a task of considerable difficulty before he becomes perfectly acquainted with all the new members. It is probable that in no parliament within living memory has there been so great a memory has there been so great a change in the members.

The father of the new house will be the Right Hon. George Henry Finch, who has been re-elected for Butland, for which constituency he has sat since 1867, or thirty-nine years. "But I didn't really come to be a model," said the visitor shyly.

"O, but you must," the girls all said in chorus. "You are just what Miss White wants. You just must come."

"Well," said the woman, "you know I saw some one demonstrate a corset once in Convention Hall, and the woman who was the model—well, they—they—showed—er do you—"

"O, we supply you with—well, we'll fix that all right, and then you know there will only be women present."

"I'll come then, but really I didn't come down for that this morning," and the little girl in charge of the corsets began a desperate search.

The preliminary details of the convention were not without their humor. Miss White carries a large assortment of paraphernalla. Last night three large trucks lined up in front of the Masonic Femple and began unloading. Upstairs there was a spiritualists meeting and grave things were taking place within. Mary was telling John how happy she was and appointments of various characters were being made with spirits of another world. The sance had been in progress all the evening and much of a mysterious character had taken place.

Outside the busy world went its way, but upstairs in the big hall all was of the spirit & rightom. When those who had sat enthralled throughout the seance wended their way down the winding stairway, they caught sight of strange things as they passed the antroom.

Mummy-Like Cases.

of today, the biography of Marteau does not show a long list of early strug-gles against poverty. At thirty-one years he stands the unquestioned leader of the younger or so-called romantic school of violin playing. Jean Gerardy has not been heard here for several years. His appearance, therefore is of special interest, Gerardy is one of the most poetic among the noted performers on this instrument. He is a strongly temperamental player in addition, and can supply artistic contrasts to his interpretations.

A Wisconsin lady says of coffee:

"From childhood I had been used to drinking coffee, and grew very fond of it.

"When in course of time I began to suffer from stomach and bowel troubles with accompanying headaches, pains in the chest and loss of appetite and fiesh. I was slow to suspect that coffee was the cause. My sister, who had used and knew the virtues of Postum Food Coffee, persuaded me to try it. I gave up the old kind of coffee with reluctance, think ing that I would relish so well.
